To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Hina Mazharuddin, PA-C, and the Physician Assistants in Virtual Medicine & Telehealth (PAVMT) for their telemedicine education.

Hina delivered an engaging, interactive introduction to telehealth for our didactic-year students in our Pre-Clinical Year Prep Course. Student feedback was overwhelmingly positive, noting the realistic case scenarios, practical discussion of telemedicine challenges, and clear guidance on triage and urgency.

Comments included:

"It was very engaging!"

"I liked that it was realistic to obstacles faced in telemedicine and how we can go about handling them."

"The variety of cases—especially understanding how to triage telemedicine vs. ER."

"I love how the cases tied our current clinical learning to realistic telehealth scenarios."

I highly recommend Hina and PAVMT to any program seeking to strengthen this essential component of clinical practice.

Sincerely,

Elana A. Min, PhD, PA-C
